Barry Blows By!

Tropical Storm Barry made landfall maybe 20 miles east of here. We got some rain and some small to medium branches falling. Folks out TJ's way lost power for awhile. Could've been a lot worse. Indeed, some local wags have renamed it T.S. Barely.

I went with the normal 4-week cycle this time rather than the more memorable "First Friday" deadline so I could use both the Labor Day and Discoverers' Day weekends to work up the Sep and Oct issues.

STANDBY ALERT! The following positions may be available:

BORIS'S BULLETIN BOARD

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH: There are some defeats more triumphant than victories.

--Michel de Montaigne

Don Chinnery is offering to GM in these pages an 18xx variant of his son Dan's design, 18CTR. 18CTR is an 18xx game where you race to the golden spike in Utah. Up to four players control the Union Pacific, Central Pacific, San Francisco, and Rock Island railroads. Setup is easy. Players randomly receive predetermined stock packages, so you are running trains immediately. If you want an 18xx game that can be played in 6 turns or about 10-12 operating rounds, then this is for you! You will be provided with a copy of the map, and a copy of the rules. You will need to take trains, tiles, and certificates from another 18xx game that you own." Let him know if you're interested. This could be the replacement for ADV CIV or "Liquor".

Any interest in another pbem RAIL BARON game? So far we have Andy York.

James Kanne's modem got fried (third summer in a row -- go figure) so plan on negotiating with him by phone until he gets back on line. His cousin, Chad Wertz, has moved back to Minnesota (see p 19). As of 25 Aug, when he weds ex-Boriser Debby Osborne (Boris & Ms Nar plan to witness the event), Dave Anderson will have a new address (see p 18).

BOOS & KUDOS

This month's Madame Boldue Press Excellence Award (and free issue) goes to Rick Copeland for his CIRCUS MAXIMUS press.

This month's Ms Nar Super-Sunday Bomb is lobbed at Phil Reynolds for his abusive ABN press this time and last.

MIRKWOOD: Lord One-Eyed has resisted the siren call of the beerhalls of Munich, so we can assume that the Western Alliance has passed its first acid test. The FIN-NAF stalemate line is essentially in place, so now it's a draw or internecine rivalry. Austria would appear to be most vulnerable, but would the Turks pick up enough centers to make it worth being sole odd-man out?

"The Schwartz reagent is fine if you just want to reduce your tertiary amides, but if you want to crush them into a cowardly quivering pulp, I highly recommend the Schwarzenegger reagent."

ERRATA: The Turkish positions last time were mostly wrong.

MINAS MORGUL: France and Germany are now positioned to stamp "Case Closed" on the British Empire, but are the Russians coming in to share the spoils or save British bacon? Of what of the French sortie to the biergartens of Munich? The Italo-Austrian force has managed to trap a Turkish fleet, but how long can they hold out if and when the Tsar and the Sultan start working hand-in-glove? And how long will Austria be necessary?

VOTE: 0 Yea, 2 Nay, 3 NVR= Yea, so the GR win falls. An R/T win is proposed.

KLENDATHU: Serbia continues her march southward, heedless of the Rumanian rabble nibbling at her heels. Albania falls into lockstep with the Rumanian war machine and it even looks like the Turks are playing flunkie. If so, it would behoove the Greeks and the Serbs to forget their animosities and coordinate their defenses. But since when have the Serbs looked out for anyone but themselves? And when have the Greeks ever foregone a chance to thrack Turks to the exclusion of all else?

ATHENS: In the social event of the century. Prime Minister David Anderson married Lady Osborne of England via Canada near the Acropolis. The social elite such as the Bolducs, the Sokanakis, and the Foy family, was in attendance.

The reception was marred by the former Bulgarian ambassador, drunken out of his skull, throwing Molotov cocktails around after a 300 point Dow-Jones drop, claiming "I was wanting to have a little bang for my bucks!"

SERBIA TO GREECE: You won't be part of a draw as long as I'm alive.

Due next time are your orders for Turn 9.

Press:

The searing pain in his head brought Indy to his knees in the chariot. His hand covered his eye. His bloody fingers traced the open whip gash from his left ear to his eye and he realized what Lingus had done to him.

Screaming metal sounds forced him to open his good eye. The chariot hub was scraping the wall. A quick flick of the reins and the horses corrected course. Good team.

Indy struggled to his feet. What to do? Race or revenge? If he lost the race, Antonio's gambling thugs would undoubtedly kill him. Even if he won the race, this would be his last, now that he was half blind. Indy was in a red rage. He carefully uncoiled his whip as the team thundered into the turn...

C: Don Chinnery's Angevin D: Dave Anderson's Blue Meanies
E: David Kurtz's Black Adders F: Flint Webb's Chancellor of the Mighty Horde
GMing By Mike Scott The California Connection.

Event Card Responses: Stanley is returned to Douglas, Stafford goes to Leeds, Bouchier goes to Rochester, and maybe some Flemish Foot Soldiers went Bye-Bye.

Between Turn Happenings: Pole into play @ Wingfield. With the distribution of the Crown Cards last turn, we've gone thru the deck one time. Thus if there are any players who drop out, I will not seek replacements for them. Their Nobles will hold in place, and per the NMR rules, eventually be pulled from the map. I was also asked about the status of the Duke of Lancaster, since all the Lancasterian Heirs are dead... I have a 3 part answer. 1) Until killed, the Duke will hold in place and be belligerent - or, as he is currently a captive, he can be moved by his captor's. 2) If he is left uncontrolled he'd remain where release, and not reconroled until if & when the Noble Beaufort comes into play, Beaufort is the next in line and the Duke will then be controlled by the Faction playing Beaufort. 3) Would all players please read the original rules on page 4 about the Beaufort status in regards to wining the game

COMBATS: None. But at the end of this phase, the Duke of Lancaster is killed.

SEIGES: TWO, the first @ Cardigan: Audley transfers Edward to Neville, then does a mighty Seige: card is Storms @ Sea 2-1, and thus captures Talbot & George. The second is @ Ludlow, where Berkeley, Herbert, Mowbray, & Pole seige the castle for some unknown reason. Card drawn is Event Card to Berkeley's Faction, then Plague Colchester & Ipswich 4-1, and all survive...Berkeley goes inside, the others remain outside.

TURN NINE Crown Cards: There was only one in the deck at this time, and it goes to the Black Adders.
